MINISTER TELLS OF KILLING PRIEST

Self Defense Claimed by Defendant; Courtroom Is Crowded.

Birmingham, Ala.—Taking of testimony was expected to be completed Thursday in the trial of the Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, charged with second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Father James E. Coyne, Catholic priest, Aug. 11.

The fourth day of the trial found another great crowd present. Wednesday session, marked by many tense situations, was brought to a dramatic close by the appearance before the jury of Pedro Gussman, who, as a communicant of Father Coyne's church, was married to Stephenson's daughter by the priest. After Stephenson had concluded his narrative of events which led up to the shooting and had described the manner in which he shot the priest, counsel for the defense called Gussman. He was prompted before the jury for their close scrutiny. No word was spoken by the witness and he was then excused. Gussman was well dressed, a man of small stature, about 40 years of age. Gussman testified at the preliminary trial that he was a native of Porto Rico.

The minister, proceeding, said he went to the rectory to see the priest, not knowing who he had been married. In conversation with the priest, he learned his daughter had been married by Father Coyne to a man named Stephenson. "You have treated me as dirty as dog in marrying my daughter to a negro," the priest told him not to repeat the statement. He repeated it whereupon, he said, the priest grabbed the minister's belt, struck and kicked him and reached for his hip pocket.

"I shot him then," said the minister, his voice breaking and tears coming in his eyes.

It must have taken two men to lift the engine in the opinion of the sheriff who investigated the case and is conducting a search for the missing articles.

WOULDBE ASSASSIN OF AMBASSADOR IS SOUGHT BY PARIS

INFERNAL MACHINE BRITISH WAR BOMB, POLICE BELIEVE.

HORROR VOICED

French Press Denounces Outrage; Push Fight on Communists.

Paris—Police authorities, investigating the explosion of an infernal machine in the residence of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, Wednesday report that a parent of a British bomb, widely used during the war, was concealed in the apartment sent to the ambassador.

Mr. Herrick's valet recognized the sound given out by the package when it was opened as being that of a bomb. He was formerly a soldier in the British forces in France. No clues as to those who plotted the assassination of Mr. Herrick have been found and fragments of the wrapper of the deadly package are being examined in the hope that it may be possible to trace its origin. It was badly shattered by the explosion, however, and there would appear to be little hope of detecting the criminal.

Paris newspapers Thursday voiced horror at the explosion and called for accounts and photographs showing the wrecked room in the Herrick residence.

L'Humanite declared "the police might use the incident in their campaign against communists. French experts examining several hundred letters sent recently to Mr. Herrick, discovered one which they believe may furnish a clue in tracing the matter of the explosion."

The letter was addressed to the ambassador personally and is said to have contained a threat to kill him by "scientific means."

These experts, Thursday believed they were dealing with a similarity between the handwriting of the letter and that of the address on the box that contained the bomb.

General Plot Seen

Thackvera, the American consul general, said in a letter from a communist organization in a small town near Lille, declaring Americans in France would be the objects of retaliatory measures if the execution of the letter was not carried out. He believed by the authorities that there is a general plot against all American officials in France.

Forty-six additional letters of protest in connection with the convicted men were received by Ambassador Herrick, Thursday afternoon.

DAVIS BROS. HELD FOR AUTO RAFFLE

Morgan's Action Causes Arrest of Evansville Garage Owners.

Raffling in any form, manner or method is against the state law declares Attorney General William J. Morgan who directed District Attorney Leslie J. Davis and Blaine J. Davis, Evansville garage owners, on a lottery charge.

Arraigned in municipal court before Judge H. L. Maxwell Wednesday afternoon, the defendants, who are brothers, pleaded not guilty. They were released without bail and their trial set for November 4.

Must Stop Lotteries.

Under the ruling of the attorney general, the law is against the sale of lotteries, raffles no matter for what purpose the contest is being conducted. If the state can secure a conviction against the Davis brothers, it will be the first time in the history of the state that a violation of the same law, according to attorneys.

Some time ago the Davis brothers, it is claimed, sold a touring car costing $2400 to be raffled off in connection with a community picnic, ball game and dance.

According to Thomas S. Nolan, attorney for the defendants, they lost more than $200 on the venture.

Morgan Takes Action.

The attorney general received a letter from an Evansville resident requesting information whether a lottery or raffle similar to the one conducted by the Davis brothers was legal under the state law. Mr. Morgan with considerable emphasis advised that any such raffle or lottery is illegal and in violation of the law.

Proceedings in the office of the attorney general's office, for the raffle of a lodge clubhouse in Chipewa Falls, tickets for which were sold here, there are a number of other cases pending in which Attorney General Morgan has expressed a desire to stop the lottery evil and arrests for church lotteries are threatened in the future.

PHYSICIAN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Roseburg, Ore.—Dr. R. M. Brumfield was found guilty of murder in the first degree Wednesday night, in connection with the death of Dennis Russell.

In Oregon, the penalty for murder in the first degree is death by hanging.

Russell's headless body was found beneath the wrecked and burned automobile of Dr. Brumfield, July 13 last, behind a barn near here. The prosecution contended Brumfield slew Russell, a laborer, and sought to have the body taken for his own as a means of escaping financial difficulties. The defense pleaded insanity. Judge Brumfield will pass sentence Saturday. The prisoner received the verdict with no show of emotion, but his wife collapsed.

Madison, Wis.—The American Railroad Men's association, a fraternal and benevolent association embracing 10,000 yardmasters, yard conductors and switchmen, Thursday issued an appeal to all railroad unions to call off the proposed general strike and accept the wage cut ordered by the United States railroad labor board.

The union men were warned that if they strike "craved against you there will be 100,000,000 men, women and children. The same railroad management that now seems to deny public opinion would so mould and organize it against you as to overwhelm you and would, in their defense, that same power which should be used against them."

Calls it "Calamity."

The statement, an open letter to union men was signed by Frank MacKint, jr., business manager of the order.

"No man is too rich nor none too poor to be called upon to make a sacrifice in the name of humanity. We know that the popular de-

MILTON JUNCTION DENIES "WET" YARN

Gone—50 gallons of high proof whiskey.

Left—one good barrel with a hole in the bottom.

Under circumstances, neither the drug stores nor the physicians have permits to dispense intoxicating liquor. Of unknown origin, a rumor persisted in Janesville Wednesday night that a barrel of whiskey was left on the Milton Junction station Tuesday night and when the owner came to take it Wednesday morning, it was empty. The station agent denied that someone had crawled beneath the platform of the station, bored through the floor and drawn off the spirits, so the story goes.

Milton Junction is wondering Thursday whose fertile mind invented the yarn. Even the station agents know nothing about it.

Lloyd George Says He Belongs to Two Denominations

Springfield, Ill.—Controversy over the religious affiliation of Lloyd George, who has been claimed here by both Disciples of Christ and the Baptists, was settled Thursday by Lloyd George himself after the manner of a Solomon choosing neither the one nor the other, but claiming them both.

In a letter responding to a query, the sagacious Welshman wrote that he "is a member of the Disciples of Christ, but attends the Baptist chapel."

The controversy was occasioned several months ago, when local Baptists demurred at what they called presumption on the "congress of the Disciples of Christ" in claiming Lloyd George as all theirs.

SALES TAX PLAN URGED IN SENATE

Edge Further Demands Repeal of "Discriminatory" Assessments.

Washington—Another appeal for enactment of a manufacturers' sales tax was heard Thursday in the senate.

Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, endorsing the sales tax plan, declared that in addition to keeping the surtax minimum rate down to 32 per cent and repealing the excess profits taxes, he would do away with every one of the so-called excise and nuisance taxes.

"I would repeal every type of discriminatory tax imposed on one business while others are permitted to escape," he declared. "The adoption of a sales tax that would hit the rich and poor alike, a tax that is fair all along the line and, in my judgment, one that encourages development throughout the country."

The New Jersey senator's assault on the compromise plan to increase the maximum surtax led to a general debate on the republican side of the chamber. The senator, a republican, declared "the so-called agricultural bloc is not in charge of this so-called compromise."

Senator Lorimer also declared the committee's compromise, which "actually reduces the taxes on all incomes below $55,000," as compared with the rates proposed by the finance committee.

Income Tax Will Net $20,000 More.—State Collections in County Next Year to Reach $167,000.

Tentative figures of E. A. Taylor, supervisor of incomes for Rock county, show that the normal income tax for 1931 to be collected the next year is decidedly higher than the year previous. The incomes listed are from the districts during the peak of the industrial and farm boom of 1929.

The previous figure was $14,304.40 and the 1931 total will be approximately $167,000. There were increases of more than $15,000 from both Beloit and Janesville, according to Supervisor Taylor.

The corporation tax has not yet been completely tabulated. The county tax authorities are working on this and the sur-tax report.

Final figures are being prepared by the supervisor for the county assessment. It is believed the total assessed valuation of Supervisor Taylor to be considered by the board of equalization will be about the same as the $123,000,000 established by the last state tax commission.

First Sale of Government Bonds

Venice, 1140 A. D.

IT was in Venice in the Twelfth Century that the bond business had its beginning. The Island City-Republic had emptied her treasuries in a costly naval war.

More ships were needed—sailors must be paid. The republican government forced the wealthiest citizens to buy bonds bearing interest at 4%. In this manner 16,360 lire (about $71,984) was raised with which the war was continued.

Later a second loan was made in the same manner. The Venetian Government offered its revenue from the sale of salt, which was a government monopoly, as security.

Then, as now, bonds were used as builders of nations and of business.

This is the first of a series of advertisements depicting the origin and development of the use of bonds and securities. Copyright 1921 by Morris F. Fox & Company, Milwaukee

ARCOLA Week

Many dealers' stores are keeping open evenings so that you and she may see ARCOLA together

YOUR Heating Engineer is keeping open house this week—ARCOLA Week. You and she are invited to go together to see ARCOLA.

And what does this invitation mean?

It means money in the bank for you. For ARCOLA will reduce your fuel consumption, room for room, an average of one-third as compared with stoves or hot-air furnaces. You can put into the bank one-third of what you have been putting into the fire.

It means a warm-all-over house instead of a house hot in spots and cold everywhere. It means all the hot water you want for washing and bathing. For ARCOLA, connected with the kitchen tank, heats your water as well as it heats your whole house.

Accept your Heating Engineer's invitation. You will see a heating outfit different from any you have ever known. ARCOLA adds from two to five times its cost to the value of your home—just as IDEAL Boilers and larger AMERICAN Radiator systems add far more than their cost to the value of larger buildings. It burns any kind of fuel and under the expert direction of your Heating Engineer, it can be delivered, set up, and put to work at once.

See ARCOLA Today or Tonight

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (you used to call him Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a great deal.

RAIL LABOR BOARD GIVEN BIG POWER

Harding's Course Expected to Prevent Strike; Stern Action Seen.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—President Harding has determined to make the railroad board so important that when it hands down a decision saying either side in a controversy is wrong, the full weight of public opinion will be brought to bear on the necessary pressure to bear on the board to make it do its duty.

This was the original idea of congress in creating the railroad board, and it is the power of the board has developed. Executive influence has saved what might otherwise have been a steady collapse of the whole structure created by congress. Mr. Harding has made it clear that he wants the railroad labor board to go ahead and call both sides to task.

Mr. Harding's course will unquestionably prevent a strike, for neither the railroads nor the labor leaders would be able to compete successfully against a formal decision as to who was right or wrong. Both sides privately will admit that.

Labor Board's Powers

The president feels that the United States railroad labor board should act sternly with any organization that flouts its decisions.

He approves of the assumption of the railroad brotherhood chiefs to come to Chicago to talk things over with the president. He thinks it clear that he wishes the board will also call in promptly officials of the Pennsylvania railroad who recently defied the decision of the board.

Mr. Harding believes the railroad board will succeed only if it plays fair with both sides and that it must be just as ready to chastise a big institution like the Pennsylvania railroad as it is to chastise a small union. Mr. Harding isn't showing any partiality to either side—he isn't actually interfering in the details of the controversy. He keeps on pointing out that congress has created the labor board to settle disputes and that both sides must to the mark and obey that board. Mr. Harding has confidence in the integrity and fairness of the board and believes public opinion will follow its decisions.

Precedented by Railways.

The railway brotherhood chiefs called a strike in advance of a decision by the board. They took action largely because the railroads announced they would seek a second cut in wages. But there's a vast difference between a request for a cut in wages and the actual granting of the same. Mr. Harding feels that the calling of a strike is largely a misunderstanding—a fear of something that may or may not materialize.

The president is confident that with the labor board formally called upon each side to behave, there will be no more flouting of the authority of the railroad board. The labor chiefs have been watching to see whether the labor board had any real power behind it. When they saw the Pennsylvania railroad ignore the decision of the board, they were prompted to do likewise.

The remedy for the situation in the opinion of the administration is to get back to fundamentals—to make both sides respect the board. If that is accomplished, change comes once more in the railway problem and no improvement will have been made over the situation in 1916 when the

HOPE TO ARRIVE AT GAS PLANT VALUE IN NEAR FUTURE

Opening conferences are to be held by the city council committee and the officials of the Janesville Gas company over the valuation of the corporation in the near future.

Next month, those wishing to determine the valuation amicably for settlement of the gas rate problem. The valuation figure of the Janesville gas company was previously set at $450,000 and the company now presents a figure, including overhead and organization costs, amounting to approximately $800,000. The importance of the figures is that the commission allows a utility to earn eight percent on its total valuation, although the actual cost of gas is largely made up from the cost of production.

It is expected the first conference will be held the latter part of the week.

TURKEYS MAY BE 60 CENTS, OR HIGHER; BUTCHERS DON'T KNOW

Prices on turkeys for Thanksgiving this year, may be high and they may be average. Local butchers have formed no opinion yet, stating that the supply has not been estimated and that no reports have been received. Another two weeks will show about how the market will be around Thanksgiving.

If turkeys are as plentiful as ducks and geese, they will probably be no higher in price than they were last year, one butcher stated. Large numbers of all fowl have been seen around the countryside, but the outside market cannot be determined.

The high mark last year was close to Thanksgiving, when 60 to 65 cents per pound was the prevailing price on the fowl. Some were lower later in the season.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Lyndonville.

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars." Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big-hearted, rich man who has given all he has to charity, but he is unable to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment. To sell at all drug stores 25 cents a large box.

Read this letter, written February 14, 1915, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Lyndonville, N. Y. "I was afflicted with a large ulcer, but it is true, every word of it. I know it because I got similar letters from the most prominent people who have used my ointment for old sores, eczema and piles. Is it any wonder I am happy?" Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo.

Dear Sirs:—I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any good result. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not been relieved before. In a few days, after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 3 inches by 5/8 inch. It is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's salve.

You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it. Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Lyndonville, N. Y. It will cure, cured by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

"The Love Pendulum"

By MARION RUBINCAM

CHAPTER LIII.

Of all things that are hard to put up with in life I sometimes think lack of understanding is the most difficult.

When I was first married to Winthrop I rejoiced in the fact that I was such good friends with his mother. Having had no mother of my own, and knowing only that there was some curious mystery surrounding her life and disappearance, I naturally turned with outstretched arms to the little grey-eyed woman in Wellesville who had been so kind to me when I was ill.

Through the long days of my convalescence Mrs. Taylor had never been anything but charming, and during the days of my engagement her life and all the sympathy that I should have expected from my own mother. To have her turn against me also at this time was almost more than I could bear. I put the letter down.

"Did you ever tell your mother that it was you and not I that ran the bills up last winter?" I asked.

At once, thinking I was going to score his face clouded over and the odd, sullen look that I had learned to dread so much came back.

"That's like you," he answered, "to blame me for everything that goes wrong."

There was never any use arguing while Winthrop was in such a mood, so I handed him back the letter and said nothing.

At once he began to cheer up again. "At all events," he said, "we can get out of this hole and go back to our home in the city."

"But the lease of the apartment does not expire until October," I objected, "and this is only September."

"Once more Winthrop looked like a small boy who had been deprived of some favorite playing."

"I'll buy the lease back from them," he said, "and we'll move in next week."

I knew that this would cost him several hundred dollars, and under the circumstances we could not afford the money. It seemed a useless thing to do in order to have three weeks more in the city, but Winthrop was so obviously cheered by the idea of going back to town immediately that I made no objection.

So it was that within a week we found ourselves back in our old apartment. The season in town had not quite begun. Very few of our friends were back again, but Winthrop was so overjoyed by being back in the heart of the city that he for once

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES

AND HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN MAKE OUT OF A LOT OF CIRCLES

Don't you think it rather odd that this lot of circles can be made into an attractive drawing of a bunch of grapes. You just make a lot of circles and show them to mother or father and see if they can guess what you can make of them. All you have to do is to blacken in the circles and leave a high light every now and then in a few of the circles.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

TOE NAILS

Yesterday we were talking about the nails. I'm afraid in our consideration of this important item we are apt to forget that the toes also have nails, and that these should be kept in perfect condition. Most of us spend such scanty leisure as we possess on the places that show most. Surely any woman can steal 10 minutes a week, or 10 minutes twice a week, to look after the feet and toe nails. The results in comfort will justify the time spent, even if the toe nails are hard to achieve. One wealthy society woman has her toe nails cared for daily exactly like her finger nails, and has such nail care fully polished. As she has plenty of time, I do not blame her for it. I think it's sense and not vanity that prompts her to have her feet as pretty as her hands.

The feet should be soaked in warm soapy water for 10 minutes, so the nails can be cut easily. Cut them straight across, short, and clean up.

Black Silk Stove Polish

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shining lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.

All we ask is that you try it. It's not a drop of oil, but a drop of polish. It's not a drop of oil, but a drop of polish. It's not a drop of oil, but a drop of polish.

Today's Short Story

By GEORGE T. BYE

The Key Word

If it was not that the principal social pastime of unusual New York is to outshoot their friends, a dumb man there would be at least a disadvantage there elsewhere. Nearly all the ordinary transactions in the metropolis are consummated in grunts.

Oliver Shattinger left his club at 3 o'clock for his stroll through Central Park before breakfast. Conway, the went to Montana in the early seventies. He became a cowpuncher, a hunter and trapper. When Chief Joseph led his Nez-Perce warriors on their 1,000 mile dash for freedom in 1877, Paxson enlisted as a scout with the United States troops and served with them until Chief Joseph was cornered in the Bear Paw mountains and surrendered to Gen. Miles.

After the Nez-Perce war was over, Paxson returned to Deer Lodge, Mont., and opened a studio. He had always wanted to paint pictures, and he took for his subjects the things he knew best—Indian life, Indian hunters and trappers. Then he conceived the idea of a painting of the greatest Indian battle in American history—Custer's last fight with Sitting Bull and Cheyennes on the Little Big Horn.

For years Paxson gathered information about the battle. He went over the battlefield again and again until he was familiar with every foot of it. He talked with Indians who had fought against Custer, and he sought officers and men who had served with Reno and Benteen to get their stories of the fight. He learned everything he could of the position of every man in the Seventh cavalry on that fateful day in June, 1876.

Paxson was engaged seven years in the actual painting of the picture. His work was interrupted during this time by his service in Cuba during the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines. After the war was over he returned to his work and the picture was completed. Paxson showed the figures of more than 200 soldiers, Indians and scouts. It contained the portraits of 36 members of Custer's command painted from photographs. Every detail of the battle was shown historically accurate, so far as it is possible to know how Custer and his men perished. The painting has been on exhibition in the largest cities of the United States and it now hangs in the library of the Montana state university at Missoula. It is valued at $25,000.

In 1878 Paxson laid down the scout's rifle to take up the painter's brush. Forty-one years later he laid down the brush. Col. Paxson died in Missoula, Nov. 9, 1919.

Robert, Mrs. H. E. M. E. S., Ellice, Betty, Mrs. G. B. BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had been keeping company with a boy friend and I quit him. I know he was very sorry. I am sorry now. Do you think I ought to write and tell him to come back, or ought he to ask me if he can come back?

BROWN EYES.

You made your choice and now you should stick to it. You can show by a cordial way of speaking that you still like him. Then if he wants to he will ask to come back.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 19 years old. I was deeply in love with a boy the same age. He very often expressed his love for me and said that he could never live without me, and I believed him. When I went with other boys he always seemed to get angry.

One day he saw me with a boy and he got awfully angry and we decided to quit. Do you think he really loved me or was he just wanting to fool me and afterwards have fun out of it?

He has written me several letters lately and I think he wants to go back with me. What do you think I should do? Please tell me what you think about a boy who does this way. I am worried and at a loss to know what to do.

HEART-BROKEN.

The young man is not trying to make a fool of you. I can see from what you say that he loves you too much to want you to go with other young men. Unless he loves you enough to ask you to marry him and to be engaged, he has no right to demand that you give up other young men. Since he is showing a renewed

He had written his office he would not be down for the day. Nevertheless, he decided to slip in and look over his mail. When his secretary surprised him at his desk, Shattinger put his fingers over his lips' comically. She left him alone without a word.

Again on the street he made his way to a hotel where a place luncheon was served. "Coffee, sir," asked the waiter Shattinger nodded. As he was leaving the hotel a beautiful brunette of the lambent-eyed Spanish type, Shattinger's favorite, ran to him. She showed pain when he tried to dodge away. She caught his arm.

"Why, Oliver, aren't you glad to see me?"

He tapped his lips and ears meaningfully, and his mouth pursed with regretful dismay.

"Your speech—your voice affected? Darling, since when?"

Shattinger swallowed hard, slipped, brightened. "Innocent," he said deliriously. "You called me darling. To have heard that is worth 100 dollars, and that's what I lost. I bet Foster Campbell I could go around New York a whole day without speaking."

points and that you believe you can do him good, and know he will not harm you, they may be willing to let you keep him as your friend. You should help him to realize that he must try to be good and kind so that people will respect him. It is not fair for him to do as he pleases, gaining the ill-will of people, and then expect you to risk your reputation by keeping him as a friend.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl almost 17 and in love with a boy whom my parents do not like. There is another boy who likes me and whom my parents like, but I do not care for him at all. What shall I do?

BROWN EYES.

You are too young to think of love now. Regard both of the boys as friends only, since you are too young to make any decision or choice. If your parents have strong objections to the young man you like, listen to their advice and do not stubbornly keep as a friend some one who is undesirable.

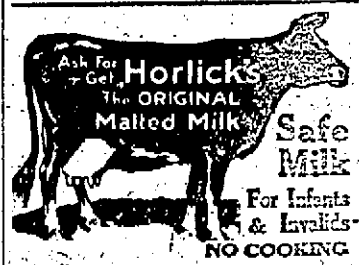

Times Change.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.
